

Front

NOTICE OF DECERTIFICATION OF JOHNSON v. YAHOO! INC., No. 14-cv-2028 (N.D. Ill) The purpose of this notice is to advise you that, by order of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, this former class action is decertified. The Court determined that this action can no longer proceed as a class action. Individuals who were previously members of the Class and who wish to pursue their claims against Yahoo must now bring their claims in individual lawsuits. You have the following options: <ol style="list-style-type: none">(1) You may choose to do nothing. If you do nothing, then you will have no lawsuit against Yahoo.(2) You can choose to pursue an individual lawsuit against Yahoo. If you wish to file such a lawsuit, you should consult an attorney of your choosing as soon as possible.	Yahoo Text Message Class Action Notice Administrator c/o JND Legal Administration PO Box 91237 Seattle, WA 98111 « Postal Service: Please do not mark barcode <<Claim7>> <<FName>> <<LName>> <<ATTN: <User Name Identified by Sprint>>> <<Addr1>> <<Addr2>> <<City>>, <<State>> <<Zip>>
---	---

Back

Your legal rights are affected by applicable statutes of limitations, which require that lawsuits be brought within a specified time. The applicable statutes of limitations for former class members' claims were suspended during the pendency of the class action, but with the decertification, they have started to run again. If you wish to file an individual lawsuit, it is essential that you act promptly because your claims may be barred by the statutes of limitations. This notice applies to all members of the former Class, defined as: "All persons within the United States to whose cellular telephone number Yahoo! sent the "Welcome" text message during the period commencing March 1, 2013 through March 31, 2013, while such cellular number was assigned to Sprint, and whose cellular telephone number is not associated with a Yahoo! user in Yahoo!'s records." The "Welcome" message stated: "A Yahoo! user has sent you a message. Reply to that SMS to respond. Reply INFO to this SMS for help or go to y.yahoo.it/imsms." To learn more about other developments in this case, including to access a copy of the Complaint, the Court order certifying the former class, the Court order decertifying the former Class, and subsequent orders relating to Ms. Johnson's claim, please visit http://www.yahootcpaclassaction.com. You can also call Keogh Law, Ltd. (the law firm that was formerly representing the now-decertified class) toll free at (866) 726-1092 or e-mail them at info@keoghlaw.com if you still have any questions. Special Instructions for Sprint Account Holders: You are receiving this notice because Sprint's records show you were the account holder for cellular telephone number ending in <<last 4>> in March of 2013. As the account holder, you may have been the user, or the user may have been on your cellular telephone plan. <<Sprint's records indicate a user identified as <name>>>. If you were not the user, please promptly send a copy of this notice to the user.
--

Front

NOTICE OF DECERTIFICATION OF JOHNSON v. YAHOO! INC., No. 14-cv-2028 (N.D. Ill) The purpose of this notice is to advise you that, by order of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, this former class action is decertified. The Court determined that this action can no longer proceed as a class action. Individuals who were previously members of the Class and who wish to pursue their claims against Yahoo must now bring their claims in individual lawsuits. You have the following options: <ol style="list-style-type: none">(1) You may choose to do nothing. If you do nothing, then you will have no lawsuit against Yahoo.(2) You can choose to pursue an individual lawsuit against Yahoo. If you wish to file such a lawsuit, you should consult an attorney of your choosing as soon as possible.	Yahoo Text Message Class Action Notice Administrator c/o JND Legal Administration PO Box 91237 Seattle, WA 98111 « Postal Service: Please do not mark barcode <<Claim7>> <<FName>> <<LName>> <<ATTN: User of the cellular telephone number ending in <<last 4>> during March 2013>> <<Addr1>> <<Addr2>> <<City>>, <<State>> <<Zip>>
---	---

Back

Your legal rights are affected by applicable statutes of limitations, which require that lawsuits be brought within a specified time. The applicable statutes of limitations for former class members' claims were suspended during the pendency of the class action, but with the decertification, they have started to run again. If you wish to file an individual lawsuit, it is essential that you act promptly because your claims may be barred by the statutes of limitations. This notice applies to all members of the former Class, defined as: "All persons within the United States to whose cellular telephone number Yahoo! sent the "Welcome" text message during the period commencing March 1, 2013 through March 31, 2013, while such cellular number was assigned to Sprint, and whose cellular telephone number is not associated with a Yahoo! user in Yahoo!'s records." The "Welcome" message stated: "A Yahoo! user has sent you a message. Reply to that SMS to respond. Reply INFO to this SMS for help or go to y.yahoo.it/imsms." To learn more about other developments in this case, including to access a copy of the Complaint, the Court order certifying the former class, the Court order decertifying the former Class, and subsequent orders relating to Ms. Johnson's claim, please visit http://www.yahootcpaclassaction.com. You can also call Keogh Law, Ltd. (the law firm that was formerly representing the now-decertified class) toll free at (866) 726-1092 or e-mail them at info@keoghlaw.com if you still have any questions. Special Instructions for Cellular Account Holders: If you were a Cellular Telephone Account Holder in March 2013, the user of the cellular telephone Number ending in <<Last 4>> may have been on your cellular telephone plan. If you were not the user, please promptly send a copy of this notice to the user.
--